

Which Eye Tracker to try first?

Eye trackers should only be recommended following a functional evaluation with the individual. This chart is intended as an overview of which trackers to prioritise depending on some common factors relevant for remote assessments.

Please see gazehelp.com for further information.

